An old habitue of the Virginia White Sulphur Springs, dating back his prime s generation ago, details these interesting reminiscaces of the Southern Saratoga to a correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer;

- 'In 1818 Mr. Calwell settled there and Homptons (the father of the Governor)

Scott, Filmore, Taylor, Van Buren, the Sin detone, the McDuffs and the distinguished men of the time. We had stage coaches in those days. Fry kept the warm springs. This was a famous resort. The The first night I spent there they put me in a log cabin about as big as a dry goods bex, and consoled me by telling me that Thomas Jefferson once spent several weeks in the hut. I remember they gad a bagaselle table at the Warm, and one night I saw John C. Calhound and General Winfield Scott playing for drinks. "Did polibachelors in Alabama row. His father was an African, his mother an Indian. He had 'a hawk eye and an eagle nose." He lived in a cabin on the hill back of us, and kept a watch fire blazing in front of his shanty every night. It we required any attention we went to the back door and yelled 'Oh!

Uncle!' and old Duncan would snatch a torch and come galloping down the bill. In those days Wolf row contained the boisterous young bloods-the fellows fond of noise and nonsense, frelic and fun, wine and wassail. Mr. Calwell kept a pack of hounds for us, and hunting was good. On Sunday religious services were held-where do you suppose? In the ball room."-Troy Times.
